

Agriculturalists use field experiments to find out which crop varieties grow best in which places.

Two Latin square designs are the same if you can use substitution and reflection to make them look identical.

Use a Latin square design to test 4 different varieties of wheat. How many really different designs can you find?

growing food