

you need:

- a calculator

Keep on halving

Put the number 16 in your calculator display.

Divide it by 2.

Divide that answer by 2.

Divide by 2 again.

Go on until a decimal point appears in the display, like this.

Now try another starting number.

Which numbers quickly get you to a decimal point?

Which numbers let you do lots of dividing first?

